The first scene of the film shows New York single women getting dressed in the morning to go to work. How is Andrea different from all the other women? Watch the video to see the change Andrea had.

Andrea is a girl who lives in New York and has a degree in journalism. She has the opportunity to work for a magazine that is focused on fashion as a personal assistant to Miranda Priestly, who is the editor-in-chief of Runway Magazine.

Andrea has a relationship with a guy named Nate whom she met when she was at college. Thanks to her new role in her new job, Andrea gains experience but starts having trouble since the magazine where she works takes her most of her time, having as a result an imbalance in her personal life.

Her new job leads her to change her clothing style and look more fashionable. Now, her style is elegant and trendy. Her outfits and accessories bring out a flirty, feminine, and sexy look. She loves to dress up, be in all the latest trends. Also, her personality is different. She looks more confident and decisive.
