

Science is fun with

Tr. Hadeel

Renewable and Non-Renewable Energy

Instruction: Read through the information below. Then answer the following question.

Fossil fuels such as coal, petroleum, and natural gas are a nonrenewable source of energy. The supply is limited because it takes millions of years to change living materials into fossil fuels.

Solar energy and wind energy are examples of renewable source of energy. Renewable means that the energy source does not run out.

1. Choose the correct answer.

excellent WORK

WOW!

BRAVO!
nice work

you're AMAZING!