Reading comprehension

7 a) Read an article about the things people lose on public transport in London. Answer the questions.

LOST PROPERTY

Every day millions of people travel around London on buses, trains and in taxis. And every day lots of people lose things on their trip! When it rains, they leave their umbrellas. In winter they forget their hats. In summer they lose their sunglasses. Lots of people forget their phones. And some even lose their laptops!

Some of these things are lost forever. But not all of them. Every day, public transport workers take more than 600 lost objects to the Lost Property Office. They keep the things at the office for three months and wait for their owners to come and find them.

So, what do people lose? A lot of people lose books, wallets and keys. Other passengers leave their supermarket shopping. Some people forget some very strange things! Do you know one person forgot their cat! And another person lost their mountain bike! And the strangest thing of all? One person forgot a large toy dinosaur. It was 1.80m tall! How can you forget something like that?

- 1 What things do people normally forget?
- 2 Where can they go to find them?
- 3 Which objects in the article are not in the list in Exercise 1?

b) Read the article again. Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false sentences.

- 1 People lose different things at different times of year.
- 2 People always lose small objects.
- 3 All of the objects are cheap.
- 4 All the things that people lose go to the Lost Property Office.
- 5 These things stay in the office for about twelve weeks.
- 6 People lose a lot of strange things, but they never lose animals.
