In today's world, tablets are changing education. Tablets are better than books. You can bring tablets everywhere to work, study or relax. Many teachers believe that in the future, the best jobs will require students to have strong online skills. They also believe that tablets allow students to be more creative. As an example, students in a history class in Singapore are using an app to discover and "rebuild" an ancient city. To start, they take a video tour of the ancient city of Maccu Piccu . Next, they use an app to design their own city. Finally, they can share a lot of interesting information to their teachers and friends. The students use that information to solve their own problems. Teachers also find students are more active.

19. According to the writer, books are worse than tablets.
20. Teaching students speaking skills will help them get the best jobs in the future.
21. With an app, students can only discover an ancient city.
