

Prepositional phrases with “in” and “out of”

You could use the following expressions (however some do not fit, some can be used more than once)

in charge	out of practice	in order	in brief	out of order
out of the question	out of shape	in time	out of date
in fashion	in advance	in a hurry	out of work	in vain
in shape	in practice	out of fashion	in the meantime	in particular

Let me describe my situation _____: I am employed as a reporter by one of New York tabloids and am _____ of filling-in the weekly fashion column. _____, I need to prepare news and information about all fashion shows and keep the public informed about the latest trends and tendencies getting _____. _____ to write such reports _____, one should be able to attend practically all fashion shows not only in NYC, but in other cities and countries as well, _____ in Los Angeles and Paris (France). If you don't do that, your information could become _____ and not appealing to readers. Therefore you have to plan a lot of trips _____ and sometimes have to be _____ to catch the next available plane – otherwise you might find yourself _____ the next day looking _____ for the new employment. However, if something like that happens, you should stay _____ physically and mentally and try other journalistic genres _____, otherwise the period when you stay _____ could result in your life getting _____ for many years ahead. But in case the giving up the job you like is _____ – you should do your best and be never _____!