

[1]
Emma: I have a terrible headache.
Betty: That's not good. You stay in bed. And you take a painkiller.

[2]
Tom: I don't feel good, Mom.
Mom: What's the matter?
Tom: I have a stomachache and I feel a little nauseous.
Mom: Oh, dear. You go to school today. And you drink some mint tea. I will prepare it for you.
Tom: Thanks, Mom.

[3]
Kevin: Ouch! My leg!
Dad: What happened?
Kevin: I've fallen and my leg hurts and its swollen.
Dad: We go to the hospital. Wait here, I'll take the keys.

[4]
Lisa: Ugh, I think I caught the flu.
Mike: Oh no, that's not good. You rest at home and drink plenty of fluids. Maybe take some medicine, too.

[5]
Jake: My nose won't stop running.
Sarah: Sounds like a runny nose. You use a nasal spray and maybe see a doctor.

[6]
Amy: I twisted my wrist playing basketball.
John: Ouch! You cool it with ice and put a bandage on. And you play basketball for some time.

[7]
Chris: I've got this terrible toothache.
Alex: You rinse your mouth with warm saltwater and schedule a dentist appointment as soon as possible.
And you eat so much chocolate.

[8]
Sophie: My ear is killing me.
David: Earache? You put a warm compress on it and consider seeing a doctor if it doesn't get better.
And you listen to loud music.

[9]
Mark: My throat is so sore.
Laura: You gargle with saltwater and drink some warm tea with honey. Rest your voice too.
You also talk too much.

[10]
Steve: Ugh, I have a terrible backache.
Emily: You strain your back for several days. And you think about seeing a doctor.
