Jeff: Hello, Amy? It's Jeff here. We're trying to schedule the annual meeting for the Sales Department and we'd like to make sure you can _____ the meeting.

Amy: Sure. When is it going to take place?

Jeff: Is the 25th May _____ for you?

Amy: The 25th May? What day is that?

Jeff: It's a _____.

Amy: Let me check my _____... Hmm! No, sorry! I'm afraid I'm going to be in Manchester that day.

Jeff: OK. Let's see. What about the following day, Thursday, the 26th May? Are you _____ then?

Amy: Thursday, the 26th May? That might work. Are you talking about the morning or the afternoon?

Jeff: In the afternoon, from two to five.

Amy: Two to five is OK, but I'll have to leave at 5 o'clock _____! I'm flying to Italy that evening.

Jeff: Oh, really? Well, I don't think _____ be a problem.

Amy: Where is the meeting?

Jeff: It's going to be at The Palace Hotel.

Amy: The Palace Hotel? _____ me, where is it?

Jeff: It's on Queen Street, opposite the train station.

Amy: Queen Street. Opposite the train station.

Jeff: Oh, that's great. I'll come to town _____ that day and I'll take the train _____ to the airport. Perfect.

Amy: Great! Then I'll see you on the 26th May and I'll send an e-mail about the meeting to everyone in the department now.
