

QUIZ: TRAITS THAT HELP ANIMALS MEET THEIR NEEDS (PART 2)

Match the animals with the right traits. (6 pts)

They have a shell that works as a protective shield.

Elephant and walrus

They have spines or quills that protect them.

Porcupine & hedgehog

They have smelly urine to scare animals away.

Turtles and snails

They have long and sharp tusks.

Skunks

They have antlers on their head.

Bull, rhino, buffalo, ram

They have horns on their head.

Deer, moose, and elk

Animals have special traits that help them build shelters. Match the descriptions with the right animals. (4 pts)

They have long and sharp claws to dig holes and tunnels.

desert tortoise

They use hard, sharp, and powerful beaks to build nests.

prairie dog, mole

Their strong teeth cut trees and branches to build dams.

parrot, woodpecker

Their strong forearms and tough nails dig burrows in the desert.

beaver

Click at the animals that match the trait that is being described. (5 pts)

a) A fatty hump keeps this desert animal's body temperature from getting too high so it does not sweat or dehydrate.

wolverine

panda

camels

bears

mountain goat

b) They have thick, dense, and warm fur to protect them from the cold.

wolverine

panda

camels

bears

mountain goat

Drag the following words under the right picture:

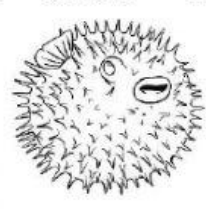

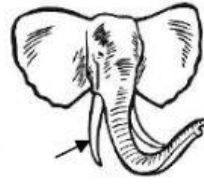

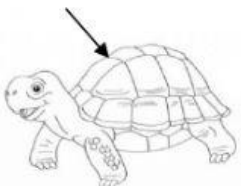

shell

spines

tusks

antlers

horns

Science Quiz | 3rd Grade Elementary

Animals have special traits that are used for getting water. Match each animal with the right traits. (5 pts)

They can drink salt water from the ocean.

Desert tortoises

They use fat from their hump as energy when there is no water.

Frogs

They can absorb water through their skin.

Camels

They get the water they need by eating eucalyptus leaves.

Koalas

They dig holes on the ground's surface to catch rainwater.

Marine iguanas

Animals have special traits that help them defend themselves against other animals. Match the description with right animal. (4 pts)

Clown fish

shoot blood out of their eyes to scare away predators.

Horned lizards

are immune to the poison of sea anemone.

Spitting cobras

open their frills to scare away predators.

Frilled lizards

shoot venom at the eyes to blind its attacker.

Click at the animal name that matches the animal picture. (8 pts)

ram / buffalo

skunk / prairie dog

porcupine / hedgehog

beaver / mole

walrus / narwhal

wolverine / bear

woodpecker / parrot

Bactrian / dromedary