Animals and people have got senses. Our senses take in smell / information about the world. They send this to our brain / tongue. We use our senses to understand / avoid the world around us. Our senses keep us safe and help us to avoid danger / food. Some animals' senses are different from people's senses. For example, bats use their ears to 'see'. They make a sound, then listen for the music / echo.
