

Word order

Words both and together.

Read these rules and the examples.

Both goes after be:

We're both very busy in the week.

Both goes before other verbs:

We both like the same bands.

Together is usually at the end of the sentence:

We watch DVDs together.

Read about Laurent and Larry again. Highlight all the examples of both and together.

Frequency adverbs and time expressions

Frequency adverbs (always, etc.) go after be and before other verbs:

Larry's always late.

We usually go to concerts together.

Phrases with every are usually at the end of the sentence:

He eats burgers and chips every day.

Read about Laurent and Larry again. Highlight all the examples of frequency adverbs and phrases with every.

My brother's name is Larry and we both like a lot of the same things. We both like the same bands and we usually go to concerts together. We're both very busy in the week, but I go to Larry's flat at the weekend and we watch DVDs together. We also play tennis every Sunday morning, but Larry's always late because he hates getting up early!

Larry and I are also very different. He doesn't like cats, but I love them. I love shopping for clothes, but Larry hates it. He usually wears a T-shirt, jeans and trainers! We don't like the same food. I usually eat vegetables and fruit, and he eats burgers and chips every day!

I think Larry is the best brother in the world and I love him very much.

Look at the sentences below. Rewrite the sentences in the correct order.

1 | work | at the weekends | often | Doctors

2 | usually | We're | on Sunday evenings | at home

3 | expensive | are | Restaurants in | often | London

4 | never | People | live to be | 200 years old

5 | often | watch TV | People | in the evenings

6 | always | I'm | on Monday mornings | tired

7 | My sister | every | gets up | early | day

8 | I'm | in the week | never | before eight o'clock | at home
