Unseen Passage

Jules Verne was a Frenchman who was born in 1828. He was not an inventor and hew was not a scientist, but he read a great many books on science. He had very strong imagination and he loved adventures although he did not have many great adventures himself. He wrote a number of electing books about the things which he thought that scientists and inventors would one day be able to do, At that time his stories seemed like fairy tales. Many of Jules Jerne's attempts to look into the future, however, were surprisingly. One of his look was called 'From Earth to Moon', In this three men and a dog made a journey around his moon they did this in a hollow 'Ship' fired from a gun. After going around the Moon, they returned to earth and splashed down into the sea not far from where the first real Moon travelers landed in July, 1969 about a hundred years later. Jules Verne's most famous book is 'Twenty Thousand Leagues under the sea'. Jules Verne died in 1905. When he was seventy seven. Many years later, explores really did go it the Moon and one part of the Moon was given Jules Verne's name.
