It's the 31st of December. Tomorrow is the start of a new year. For many people this is a good time to choose some personal goals. We asked five people about their New Year's resolutions. Here's what they told us.

'I can't think of any New Year's resolutions. I'm very happy being me. I don't want to change anything. No, I am OK. I love my job, I like where I live and I love my family. It's all good.' Audrey, 65

'I work in a bank, but I hate thinking about money all the time. I'm going to look for a completely different sort of job this year. I'd like to help others in some way.' Nuria, 26

'I always have lots of plans at the start of a new year. This year I'm going to go to the gym three times a week. I'd really like to get fit. I'm going to go swimming every Sunday because I love doing that. I'm going to stop eating chocolate and I'm not going to drive to work. I'm going to go by bike.' Bjorn, 29

'I'm not going to make any New Year's resolutions this year. Last year I made about five New Year's resolutions but I couldn't keep any of them! It was too difficult! It was the same the year before that ... and the year before that!' Stef, 32

'I'm going to learn to swim. I didn't have lessons when I was a child and I don't like being in the water. But now I have my own children, I think it's important for me to learn.' Martin, 28
