

CHROME BROWSER

Change your notification settings

By default, [] whenever [] try to send you notifications.

You can change your settings if you [].

1. On your computer, [].
2. At the top [] : > Settings.
3. Click [] > Site Settings > [].
4. [] that you want as [].

- Block a site:

1. Next to "[]" click Add.
2. Enter [].
3. Click Add.

- []

1. Next to "Allowed to send notifications," [].
2. Enter the [].
3. Click Add.

- [] prompts:

1. Allow sites to [].
2. Click Use [].

- This [] from interrupting you. A website can still ask you to allow notifications, []. Instead, you will only find a [] You can [] access.

You can also [] you notifications.

Save your []

If you sync your Chrome settings to your Google Account, you'll [] into your

[] and open Chrome browser.

[]

To sign in to Chrome and turn on sync, you must have a Google Account.

[] Only turn on Chrome sync []. If you use a [] mode instead.

1. On your computer, open Chrome.
2. At the [] .

CHROME BROWSER

3. Click
- If you're not signed into your Google Account, you'll .
4. Click .

Tip: If you want to sync more than one account or share your computer with others, learn how to add a profile in Chrome.

