

Bindi is shopping at a grocery store. Read the dialogue below and fill in the blank with an indefinite pronoun to complete it. Each indefinite pronoun will only be used once.

each · everything · both · anything · something nothing · others · another · some

B Bindi: Hello, do you have _____ on sale?

G Grocer: Yes! Today, _____ is on sale!

B Bindi: Wow! I see you only have two mangoes left. I will take _____.

G Grocer: If you are looking for _____ sweet, try the papaya.

B Bindi: _____ look bruised, but this one is OK. Do you have _____?

G Grocer: I don't think there are any _____, but have a look at _____ and pick the freshest you can find. The apples are great this time of year too.

B Bindi: There is _____ better than a juicy red apple!

GAME ZONE

Work with a partner. Practice using the indefinite pronouns in a sentence. Roll a die, and then use the key below to see which indefinite pronoun you must use. If you use it correctly, you get a point.

1	2	3	4	5	6
both	each	everything	nothing	something	anything

LIVEWORKSHEETS