EZ Screen Fans @LizaPrav

Grace and Frankie S 2 Ep 2

Before we watch.
Read the conversation. Put in for, off or of.

- OK, I got to go home, check on the house, get a change clothes. Wait! I need to fix this insurance stuff before Robert wakes up. And get a change clothes. Did I say that?
- OK, this is what we're gonna do. We're gonna go to your house so you can stay here and take care everything else.
- I couldn't ask you to do that.
- Well, you didn't. I offered. Text me a list what you need and I'll bring it back you.
- Oh, thank you so much.
- You're welcome.

- Look, I'll call the vendors, you guys divide the guest list.
- Wouldn't it be better if you took the list since all these people like you better than me?
- Exactly. The guests will be so eager to get the phone with you that it'll all go by more quickly.
- A brutal yet fair point. You're smarter than I give you credit .

- I hate to be helpful, but I could use the distraction while we're waiting Dad to wake up.
- Dad, don't stress. We got it. Take this your worry list. It's time a full-body exhale.

Manage Intonations and pronunciation
Read the lines out loud, the stressed words are marked in bold, // - pauses, / - groups of words

- Wow // They really are married / aren't they?

- Aw, man // she really does need her / full 11 hours.

Improve your writing.
Read the two emails. Which is Formal (F) and which is Informal (I) ?

To Whom It May Concern.
Wedding off.

Thank You,
DealShare - Support
http://www.dealshare.com

Dear Beloved Guest,

Sol fucked Frankie,
and Robert had a heart attack
because he eats sausage for every meal.
That's not a gay thing.
He really eats a lot of sausage.
But everything's fucked
because they got married anyway.

Wedding canceled. Send gifts.
Fuck you!

Thank You,
DealShare - Support
http://www.dealshare.com

Which phrase do we use if we don't know who'll be interested in reading our email?

Read the conversation. Find the numbers in the photo.

- What is that coffee table doing floating out in space? And this chair? Looks like it dropped out of a wormhole from the Tang Dynasty. Everything is just wrong. And what's with the ottoman (1) that looks like a yeti? That's Sol's, right?
- Yeah. He loves that thing.
- Well, it belongs by the window, or... out the window, actually.
- Did you know I even sewed a stupid pocket on it for his stupid reading glasses? Which he never used because they were always under a stupid couch cushion (2).

Read the conversations.

- You know, since you love Sol so much, maybe you could take him his underwear.
- Oh, Frankie.
- Well, I suppose I could.
- No. We're OK.
- Thank you for stopping by, Lucy.

- It's just the house of two people who could give a fuzzy rat's ass where things are supposed to go as long as they're next to each other. It's warm. It wasn't like this when I lived here.

Match the words with the definitions.

vendors	used to say that one wants or needs something to be eager to	to stay on the surface of a liquid and not sink
fair point	dealers
to go by	to really want to do something
One could use	pass
exhale	a bag filled with soft material often with an attractive cover, used to sit or lean onto
to float	the second part of the process of breathing ottoman	as/for (because)
cushion	piece of furniture like a box with a soft top since	if
as long as	used to acknowledge that something that was just said is true

LIVEWORKSHEETS