

PRESENT PERFECT & PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

>Match the questions with the correct answers.

What has Rafael been doing today?	He's been competing in a tennis match.
Have you read the new J.K. Rowling book?	No, I have been meaning to read it.
Have you tried eating sushi before?	Yes, I've been eating it for years.
What have you seen at the cinema?	I haven't been going to see films lately.
Who has seen the latest iPhone ad?	I have been watching it over and over.
Have you ever been to London?	I've been visiting ever summer for years.
Have you heard about the new timetable?	No, I've been worrying about it.
Has anyone done the report for today?	No, we've been busy doing paperwork.

Have you been to Greece before?	No, but I've been wanting to go for ages.
What is the spiciest food you've eaten?	I've been enjoying hot food all my life.
Have you been to the doctor this year?	Yes, I've been suffering from back pain.