

1. Is Internet bad for young people?

Write the following extracts in the correct position. Do they belong to the introduction, advantages, disadvantages or conclusion?

In addition, excessive internet use can mean that some young people hardly talk to their families because they are always on the computer.

often helps teenagers to widen their knowledge and improve their grades.

One advantage of the internet is However, we should be careful not to use the internet excessively.

To sum up, spending time on the internet can have a negative impact on young people, but it also has many advantages.

by chatting to friends in other countries.

There is no doubt that many young people are spending more and more time online, with both positive and negative consequences.

This can have a negative effect on their schoolwork, the amount of exercise they get and their social lives.

It is now easier than ever to access the internet, whether you are using a computer, phone or tablet.

Some young people become addicted to online gaming.

Another positive aspect of the internet is that people can practise foreign languages.

On the other hand, there are also negative consequences.

this can mean that they waste too much time playing these games.

Personally, I think the internet is an incredible tool and the benefits of internet access outweigh the dangers.

Introduction	Arguments against Arguments for young people can do research for their schoolwork and homework.
	Conclusion
This is also a good way of keeping in touch with friends and family around the world.	