Module 1
B1 INTERMEDIATE
Listening Assessment: Organizational Change

Listen to an audio on Organizational Change and complete the subsequent activities

Activity One: Choose the correct word.

Organizational change looks at two things: One, the process in which any organization changes its methods, technologies, organizational structure, whole structure, or strategies. Two, the that these changes have on the organization.

There are 5 drivers of organizational change, they are: The economic . Consumer demand and behavior. technologies. The competitive marketplace. And Government .

Activity Two: Indicate if these statements are true or false.

1) The way people spend their money on clothes and extra activities is considered a driver for organizational change.

2) Your business does not need to incorporate technology in order to succeed.

3) The speaker highlights the importance of staying informed about new rules and regulations, and making sure to follow the law.

4) Businesses can maintain competitiveness even if they don't apply any organizational change.

LIVEWORKSHEETS