

TOP NOTCH 2_UNIT 10

LESSON 4 – EXTRA READING

Homeless Man Returns Wallet with $900

A homeless man in Santa Ana, California, found a(1) and returned it to its owner. Kim Bogue, who works in the city, realized her wallet was missing and prayed for help. Days later, a homeless man found the wallet wrapped in a(2) in the trash, where Bogue had accidentally thrown it away with her lunch. Sherry Wesley, who works in a nearby building, offered to(3) the wallet to Bogue, who gave him a(4) reward. Bogue said Wesley had a(5) and the money would have been gone if someone else had found it.

An act of honesty by airport screener

A(6) at Indira Gandhi International Airport handed over a(7) cash bag to a passenger who had forgotten it. Dalbir Singh, who noticed the bag, made an(8) to claim it. After no one claimed it, Singh guessed it likely belonged to a passenger en route to(9). An announcement was made on the next flight, and the bag's owner was rewarded with(10).

Man Risks Life to Save Another

Wesley Autrey, a(11) in New York City, made a life-saving decision to save a fellow(12) from an oncoming subway train. Cameron Hollopeter,(13), fell between the tracks after suffering a(14). Autrey rolled Hollopeter into a gap between the rails and covered him with his own body just as the train entered the station. Both men survived (sống sót). Autrey said he did what he felt was right and didn't feel(15) about his actions.