

Contrast and Similarity

Fill the space with a word from the box. Pay attention to punctuation!

	1. In many Middle Eastern countries, it is considered polite to remove your shoes when entering someone's home. _____, taking shoes off is also common in many Asian cultures.
Both	2. _____ in Japan it is customary to bow as a form of greeting, a handshake is common in many Western cultures.
However	3. _____ Eastern and Western cultures value punctuality.
However	_____ , the acceptable time range for being on time may vary.
Like	4. In Scandinavian countries, personal space is highly valued,
Neither	_____ in other more crowded regions, people are often more comfortable often being close to one another.
Similarly	5. _____ burping nor blowing your nose at the dinner table is considered polite in most cultures around the world.
Similarly	6. Australian waiters, _____ Canadian ones, appreciate getting tips.
Unlike	7. In South Korea, it's polite to use both hands when giving or receiving something. _____, in Thailand, it's customary to use both hands when offering or receiving objects.
Whereas	8. In Germany, it's polite to arrive on time when visiting others.
while	_____ , it's considered rude to arrive too early, as it may inconvenience the host.
	9. In Japan, _____ many western countries, slurping noodles loudly is acceptable, and is seen as a sign of enjoyment.