

Example Story

Last week Ben had a job interview with a lady named Alice, who looked very good on her CV. He was feeling confident about her until she started answering his questions. First, Ben asked about Alice's math skills. Suddenly she started talking about how she was playing basketball in high school. She was telling him about the dinner she cooked last night. She said she was baking cakes all evening yesterday and therefore didn't have time to prepare for the interview. Ben was feeling very confused. Alice seemed awkward as well and she finished talking by asking Ben to go to the dance competition with her. Apparently, Alice was practicing salsa for awhile and she was trying to find a partner.

Your turn! Based on the comic book illustrations below create a story using both, past simple and past continuous. Feel free to invent the characters' names and the background to the story. Write 7 sentences or more.
