

No Bravery (Nessun coraggio/eroismo)

by James Blunt

Blunt was an officer in the Royal Armed Forces' peacekeeping efforts in Kosovo (1998-1999). This song is about his personal experience of pain.

Fill in the blanks with the following words:

drenched (= immersa); shallow (= basse); trace (= traccia); eyes;
outstretched (= tese); burnt; death; weeping; drying; lighting;
even; kneel (= si inginocchiano); cut; blind.

There are children standing here

Arms _____ into the sky

Tears _____ on their face

He has been here

Brothers lie in _____ graves

Fathers lost without a _____

A nation _____ to their disgrace

Since he's been here

And I see no bravery

No bravery

In your _____ anymore only sadness

And I see no bravery

No bravery

In your _____ anymore only sadness

Only sadness

Houses _____ beyond repair

The smell of _____ is in the air

A woman _____ in despair says

He has been here

Tracer _____ up the sky

It's another family's turn to die

A child afraid to _____ cry out says

He has been here

And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore only sadness
And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore only sadness
Only sadness

There are children standing here
Arms _____ into the sky
But no one asks the question why
He has been here

Old men _____ and accept their fate
Wives and daughters _____ and raped
A generation _____ in hate says
he has been here

And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore only sadness
And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore
Anymore, anymore, anymore
And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore only sadness
And I see no bravery
No bravery
In your _____ anymore only sadness
Only sadness