Tick the correct options

1. Barbers in western and northern Europe only cut hair.
2. Monks were the primary individuals performing surgical procedures before barbers.
3. The Catholic Church required clergymen to have long hair and beards.
4. Barbers often combined knowledge of anatomy with astrology when treating patients.
5. Barber-surgeons memorized poems to remember where bloodletting should be performed on the body.
6. The Little Ice Age led to regular famines across Europe.
7. Gangrene was treated by pouring boiling oil into infected limbs.
8. Ambroise Paré was a military surgeon who advocated for pouring boiling oil into gunshot wounds.
9. Surgery became more specialized in the 18th century.
10. Barbers and surgeons remained in the same occupation throughout history.

LIVEWORKSHEETS