CLERK: Good morning, ma' am, and 1 to "Australia's Moving Experience"! How can I help you?

WOMAN: Well, I... I hope you can help me. I'm so up in the air right now ... I.. .

CLERK: Just calm down, now. Let me guess: you're moving and it has you a little 2 .

WOMAN: That's it exactly. You see, I'm 3 to the United States next month and I'm having a hard time getting organised.

CLERK: Here, fill out your name and 4 , and let me ask you a few questions. Oh, what should I call you?

WOMAN: My name is Jane, Jane Bond.

CLERK: OK, Jane, first of all, what's your work phone number? In case I have any questions about things.

WOMAN: My work phone is 94635550. But please try not to call me too often there. My boss hates personal calls.

CLERK: So does mine, ma' am, so does mine. And what address should we ship your things to?

WOMAN: My new company is letting me stay 5 at 509 Clark House, that's C-L-A-R-K, 1137 University Drive in Seattle.

CLERK: Seattle? Beautiful city, I hear. Mountains right beside the 6 , almost. Cooler than Australia, too. OK, and when should we come 7 your things?

WOMAN: I guess that would be on Monday, March 11th.

CLERK: Do you want any help with an after-packing clean-up? We do that for a small 8 9 .

WOMAN: Yes, that would be helpful. I promised the 10 I'd give her the keys back by 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, the 14th.

CLERK: Great, we'll just 11 the clean-up for that day. That way, the place will smell clean and there'll be no dust.

WOMAN: Well, you do think of everything! Oh, how much is this going to cost?

CLERK: Here is a list of our basic prices.

WOMAN: Oh dear, this seems rather 12 !

CLERK: Yes ma'am, but you're paying for the best. We're careful and we're fast. Like we say, the only thing we 13 are speed records getting you moved.

WOMAN: Well... maybe that's so ... Oh, I nearly forgot to tell you. I don't want my 14 shipped with me. I won't be looking for an 15 till after I arrive in America. Would it be possible to put my furniture in 16 here for a month, then have it sent along later?

CLERK: Of course, we do that all the time.
