

You expect the air particles to have the most thermal energy during the daytime at point _____.

You expect the air particles to have the most thermal energy during the nighttime at point _____