Let's learn about Grammar and It's Tenses:

Here are twelve important grammar rules in English, along with some questions to help you understand them better. Let's start with the first six rules:

1. All sentences have a noun and a verb. Nouns are people, objects, animals, or places. Verbs are the actions that the nouns perform.

2. All sentences must contain a subject and a predicate. The subject is the person or thing performing an action, and the predicate is what the subject is doing(verb).

3. Use correct punctuation. All sentences must end with a full stop[UK]/period[US] [.], exclamation mark [!] or question mark [?].

4. Remember to use articles. All single, countable common nouns must be preceded by a definite article [the] or indefinite article [a/an].

5. Remember when to use capital letters. The first word in a sentence is capitalised. The pronoun "I" is capitalised. Proper nouns (names) are capitalised.

6. Use adjectives and adverbs correctly. Adjectives describe nouns, which they precede unless separated by a verb. Adverbs describe verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs. Their position varies depending on type.

Read each question carefully, then select the option that provides the best answers.
