

A, an and some

We use a or an before countable nouns and some before uncountable nouns and plurals.

a cat an orange some water some oranges

We use would like ('d like) to talk or ask about what we want. It is a polite expression that we often use in shops, cafés and restaurants.

I'd like a cup of coffee, please.

3 Complete the sentences. Write 'd like and a, an or some.

What would you like?

1 I 'd like some
aubergines, please.

2 We 'd like some
lemon, please.

3 I 'd like some
glass of milk, please.

4 We 'd like some
rice, please.

5 We 'd like some
orange, please.

6 I 'd like some
bananas, please.

7 I 'd like some
apple, please.

8 We 'd like some
fruit, please.