Directions: Let's make a paragraph today.

So what will you do? Is there another book that can help you, maybe a book that can reverse everything that happened recently? Will you team up with a group of monster hunters to defeat the demons and turn them back into people? Apart from the dark smoke, do you think anything else came from the underworld? Maybe the leader of the underworld? The greatest monster of them all. Maybe you'll just let everyone turn into monsters including yourself. And create a whole new world, where everyone is just monsters. Is there a cure out there that scientists or doctors can create to help the people who turned into demons? Using this video prompt, can you write a story about reading the book of evil and unleashing all evil onto Earth?
