Every morning, Tom wears a suit to work. Today, he is wearing a suit too, because he has an important meeting. Right now, he is taking a train to a different city for a conference. This evening, he will stay in a hotel again and carry his bags to his room. At these conferences, he always meets new people and enjoys learning about their jobs. Tom loves to enjoy a meal with his colleagues. Tonight, they are going to enjoy a meal together at a local restaurant. He usually pays the bill when he invites his friends out. After dinner, they will have fun exploring the city.

After exploring the city, Tom and his friends decide to see a movie. They walk to the cinema, buy tickets, and choose good seats. The movie is funny, and they laugh a lot. When the movie ends, they talk about their favorite parts as they walk back to the hotel. Tom feels happy because he loves making new memories with his friends. Tomorrow, he will wake up early and prepare for another day of the conference. He knows it will be a good day because he enjoys his work and meeting new people.
