

EIGHTEENTH CYCLE EXAM

UPPER INTERMEDIATE LEVEL – (1 hour 40 minutes)

PART 1

Questions 1-5

You are going to read a text about “A short history of the bagel”. Five sentences have been removed from the text. Choose from the sentences A-F the one which fits each gap (1-5). There is one extra sentence which you don’t need to use.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE BAGEL

The bagel is known around the world as a typically New York type of food.

1

The basic idea of a bread roll with a hole is centuries old.

2

and in China there is similar-shaped traditional bread called girde. The ancient Egyptians ate a bagel-like snack, too, and there are even more examples from around the Mediterranean area.

3

According to legend it was the product of the 1683 Battle of Vienna. The Polish king, Jan Sobieski, had saved Austria from the Turkish invaders. To celebrate, the Jewish bakers of Krakow made a roll in the shape of the king’s stirrup –

– and called it a “buegel” (from the German word for stirrup). There is, however, no evidence to show whether this was true or not, but the story still remains today.

It is unclear when the first bagels made their way to the United States, but by 1900,

What is also certain is that immigrants from Eastern Europe, with their cravings for the foods of the old country, sparked the New York bagel craze.

It was the 1950s that were the real turning point. As Jewish people began to move to other parts of New York, they started to share their traditional food with the rest of the city. Bagels were mentioned in a popular cookbook of the time, and demand started to grow across America. To meet this demand, a baker named Murray Lender began to use recent inventions like the freezer and plastic packaging to distribute freshly made bagels across America.

- A. But it was in Poland that today’s bagel really began.
- B. the metal objects you put your feet in when you ride a horse
- C. but also because it has the advantage of lasting longer than freshly baked bread.
- D. But it has a surprising and unusual history that goes back many years.
- E. there were 70 bakeries that sold bagels on the Lower East Side of New York.
- F. In Roman times, soldiers ate hard bread called buccellatum,

Questions 21 - 26

Read the text and questions below.

For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet.

30 days on the minimum wage

Could you change your life in just 30 days? That's the question documentary maker Morgan Spurlock asked when he filmed his new TV series, 30 Days. Martin Grady reviews the first program of the series, 30 Days on the Minimum Wage.

Spurlock, who is most famous for Supersize Me, his movie about the dangers of eating junk food, became frustrated that few people know about poverty in America. He and his fiancée, Alex, decided to film an experiment. They'd give up their jobs for a month and try to live on the minimum wage. The resulting documentary, which was filmed reality-show-style using a handheld camera, contains a powerful social message about the growing gap between rich and poor in the US.

The couple travel to Columbus, Ohio, one of the poorest cities in the US. The only apartment that they can afford to rent is filthy, in a dangerous area, and has no furniture. The heat doesn't work very well, so they're often cold. Alex begins working as a dishwasher, while Morgan does construction work with no safety equipment. Neither of them earns more than the minimum wage.

It's difficult to watch Morgan and Alex struggling in such terrible conditions. A charity gives them some furniture for free, but they have to live without reliable heat, TV, or telephone. They're exhausted all the time and begin to argue about money. The couple interview people in the same situation and listen to their stories. It's difficult to imagine, but these people have lived on the minimum wage for decades and many have children.
