Byron Court School

Many schools have students of different nationalities. In the playground at one school in London you can hear not five languages, not fifteen, not thirty, but forty-two! Byron Court is a primary school with 600 children from five to eleven years old. They are from Somalia, Iraq, Poland, Romania, Nepal, the Philippines and many more. And, oh yes, of course, from England! This part of London has families from all over the world. They come to live and work in London.

Many children don't speak English when they start. It can be a problem. But with good teachers and friends they learn fast. Soon their English is good and their school work is good too. The children at this school get to know children from different countries. They're laughing and talking together. It's great for them to have friends from different countries.

At Byron Court the children don't only do school work. They learn about different cultures. They also learn to work together. A good example for everyone.
