

I, you, we, they	have	already	played
he, she, it	has	just	studied (y→I + ed)
			stop(p) ed
			live + d spoken, written

I, you, we, they	haven't	played	yet.
he, she, it	hasn't	spoken, written

Have	I, you, we, they	played	yet ?
Has	he, she, it	spoken, written

1. Complete the story with the words from the box.

just	already	yet	for	since
------	---------	-----	-----	-------

Tom has always dreamed of traveling the world. He has saved money years, and now he's finally ready to embark on his adventure.

He has booked his plane tickets to Thailand, a country he has been longing to visit for a long time. He's already packed his bags and is feeling excited about the journey ahead.

He hasn't decided how long he will stay in Thailand He's thinking of staying for about three weeks, but he's open to extending his trip if he falls in love with the country.

Tom has been studying Thai culture and language he decided to go on this trip. He's been taking classes for several months now, so he hopes to be able to communicate with the locals when he arrives.

He's been dreaming about visiting the beautiful beaches and bustling markets of Thailand for years. Now that he's finally going, he can't wait to experience everything the country has to offer.

Tom's friends and family have been supportive of his decision to travel. They've wished him well and are looking forward to hearing about his adventures when he returns.

2. Complete the sentences with the verbs in the Present Perfect and just/already/yet.

already	1.	John the kitchen. (already/ tidy)
	2.	I my homework. (already/ do)
just	3.	Suzy a cup of coffee. (just/ have)
	4.	We to him. (just/ talk)
yet	5.	Lucy (not/ finish/ yet).
	6.	You (not/ tidy/ your room/ yet)
yet?	7.	 (she/ do the housework/ yet)?
	8.	 (you/ see your doctor/ yet?)

3. Complete these present perfect sentences with one word only.

1. Raymond helped me a lot in my work.

2. I always wanted a better job.
3. They have been friends a long time.
4. "Where's Sarah?" " gone shopping."
5. "Are you and Chris going on holiday?" "Yes, booked two weeks in Turkey."

4. Complete the second sentence so that it means the same as the first, using the word in capitals. Do not change the word. Use between two and five words.

1. Your letter arrived a few moments ago.

Your letter arrived. JUST

2. Is Ecuador one of the places you have visited?

Have Ecuador? EVER

3. Joe still has to do this project.

Joe his project yet. FINISHED

4. Somebody has already bought our house.

We our house. SOLD.