B2B versus B2C

B2B stands for Business to Business and refers to a Business selling goods or services to another Business. In the B2C (Business to Customer) model, the end user is an individual.

The result is the same for the company; they sell their product or service. However, the Business Model and the Marketing strategies are quite different.

A simple example is a farmer who grows strawberries. He can sell his entire crop to a retailer or distributor for a discounted price, in one easy transaction (B2B). Or he can set-up a small farm shop and sell his strawberries to individual consumers at a higher price (B2C). The B2C model generates more money for his strawberries but requires a lot of his time.

With the B2B model, the Business needs to set up long-term, trusted relationships with other Businesses. The B2C model requires marketing, brand recognition and advertising to attract customers.
