Mark the Punctuation Marks

If you want to separate the phrases and items,
(1) _____ must be there to help you breathe in.

If you want to be sure that a question is asked,
just check the (2) _____ if it's there at the last part.

If you want to separate the minute from the hour,
a (3) _____ must be visible like in 3:04.

If you want to complete a declarative sentence,
make sure you will put a dot or (4) _____ at the end.

If you want to show the exact lines or words uttered,
apply the (5) _____ at the beginning and end.

If you want to express excitement or emphasis,
an (6) _____ is willing to assist.

If you want to omit a letter or two,
an (7) _____ mark is ready to help you.

If you'll be able to learn all the (8) _____,
I am pretty sure that you will be smart.
