PART 4: READING COMPREHENSION (2 points)

Section 1. Read the following information and answer the questions below with NO MORE THAN THREE WORDS AND/OR A NUMBER.

TOKYO NARITA

Narita International Airport is 65km east of downtown Tokyo. The taxi ride takes at least 90 minutes, but much longer at busy times of day (and it costs a small fortune). For cheaper than a taxi is the Airport Limousine Bus, which will take you to the Tokyo City Air Terminal. The JR Narita Express (N'EX) train goes to Tokyo Station in downtown Tokyo and takes about an hour (reservation essential). The Keisei Skyliner train to Keisei Ueno

Station also takes about an hour. Both Tokyo and Ueno stations are on Yamanote loop line which runs all round central Tokyo, but this is not recommend if you have heavy baggage. Most Japanese domestic flights leave from Haneda Airport (80 km away on the other side of the city). The inter-airport bus takes at least 2 hours at busy times, so it may be quicker to take the JR Narita Express to Shinigawa Station (beyond Tokyo Station) and then transfer to the Keikyu Line for another train to Haneda in about two hours. The Keikyu Airport Express also links the two airports in about two hours, but the service is not very frequent.

Sapa

Located 38km from Lao Cai City, Sa Pa is a mountainous district of Lao Cai Province. Sa Pa District is very well-known with Sa Pa Town, a beautiful and romantic resort. At the height of 1,600m above sea level, the average temperature of the area is 15-18°C. It is cool in summer and cold in winter.

Visitors to Sa Pa in summer can feel the climate of four seasons in one day. In the morning and afternoon, it is cool like the weather of spring and autumn. At noon, it is as sunny and cloudless as the weather of summer. And it is cold in the evening.

The best time to witness the scenic beauty of Sa Pa is in April and May. Before that period, the weather might be cold and foggy; after that period is the rainy season. In April and May, Sa Pa is blooming with flowers and green pastures. The clouds that settle in the valley in early morning quickly disappear into thin air.

Sa Pa has many natural sites such as Ham Rong Mountain, Silver Waterfall, Rattan Bridge, Bamboo Forest and Ta Phin Cave. Sa Pa is also the starting point for many climbers and scientists who want to reach the top of Fansipan Mountain, the highest mountain in Vietnam at 3,143m.

The first thing you notice when approaching the resort town are some detached wooden mansions and villas perched on a hill top or hillside, behind thick pine forests and almost invisible on this foggy morning. Old and new villas with red roofs now appear and now disappear in the green rows of pomutrees, bringing the town the beauty of European towns.

Sa Pa is home to various families of flowers of captivating colours, which can be found nowhere else in the country. When Tet, the Lunar New Year Festival, comes, the whole township of Sa Pa is filled with the pink colour of peach blossom brought from the vast forests of peach just outside the town. Sa Pa is regarded as the kingdom of orchids. Here, orchid lovers are even amazed by the choice, when trekking in the forest filled with several hundred kinds of orchids of brilliant colours and fantastic shapes.

Sa Pa is most beautiful in spring. Apricot, plum and cherry flowers are splendidly beautiful. Markets are crowded and merry, and are especially attractive to visitors. Minority groups come here to exchange and trade goods and products. Market sessions are also a chance for locals to promenade and young men and women in colorful costumes to meet, date or seek sweethearts.

Visitors to Sa Pa will have opportunities to discover the unique customs of the local residents.
