

● Unreal past, wishes / contrast

Unreal past

Past tenses do not always refer to past time. In some sentences and with some verbs or phrases we use a past tense to refer to the present or the future or to a general situation. These include sentences that contain:

Structure	Example
a second conditional	I'd buy that top if I had more cash on me. suppose / what if / imagine	I know it's probably not going to happen but suppose / imagine I became a famous super model! I know it's probably not going to happen but what if I became a famous super model? would rather + you/he/she/we/they	I'd rather you didn't come with me to the fashion show tomorrow.
it's (high/about) time	It's (high/about) time that hats came back in fashion. polite questions	Did you want me to send you our new catalogue when it comes out? wish / if only	If only / I wish I had something to wear tonight.

- Suppose, what if and imagine can also be followed by a present tense.
A present tense indicates that the situation is more likely to actually happen.
A past tense indicates that the situation is less likely to actually happen.
- ✓ What if you are accepted into art college? (more likely to happen)
- ✓ What if you were accepted into art college? (less likely to happen)

Wishes

We use different structures with wish / if only, depending on exactly what we want to express.

Use	Structure	Example
Expressing wishes about the present, future or generally	wish / if only + past simple/continuous	I wish I was studying history of fashion instead of biology!
Expressing wishes about the past	wish / if only + past perfect simple/continuous	If only I'd known Burton's was having a sale last week.
Criticising other people or complaining about a situation now, in the future or generally	wish / if only + would	If only Henry would get a haircut!
Expressing hypothetical ability or permission now, in the future or generally	wish / if only + could	I wish I could fit into these jeans.
Expressing desires in a formal way	wish + full infinitive	I wish to try on this ball gown.

- We do not usually say If only / I wish I would ...
 - ✓ If only / I wish I had enough money to buy these shoes.
 - ✓ If only / I wish I could afford these shoes.
 - ✗ If only / I wish I would have enough money to buy these shoes.
- To express desires about the future, we often use hope.
 - ✓ I hope I will have enough money to buy these shoes next week.
 - ✓ I hope to have enough money to buy these shoes next week.
 - ✗ I wish I will have enough money to buy these shoes next week.

although / though / even though

Although, though and even though are used to express contrast. Even though is more emphatic than although and though. Though is more informal than although and even though.

Structure	Example
Although / Though / Even though + subject + verb, subject + verb	Although / Though / Even though I wore a hat, I got sunburn.
subject + verb, although / though / even though + subject + verb	I got sunburn, although / though / even though I wore a hat.

- Though can also come at the end of a sentence.

✓ I wore a hat. I got sunburn, though.

in spite of / despite

In spite of and despite are used to express contrast. They mean exactly the same thing and take the same grammatical structures:

Structure	Example
in spite of / despite + -ing form, subject + verb	In spite of / Despite wearing a hat, I got sunburn.
in spite of / despite + the fact (that) + subject + verb, subject + verb	In spite of / Despite the fact (that) I wore a hat, I got sunburn.
in spite of / despite + noun, subject + verb	In spite of / Despite my hat, I got sunburn.

- We can also put in spite of / despite in the middle of the sentence.

✓ I got sunburn in spite of / despite wearing a hat.

- We can also use the perfect -ing form to show that the action happened before the result.

✓ I got sunburn in spite of / despite having worn a hat.

- With in spite of / despite + -ing form, the subject of the main verb must also carry out the action of the -ing verb.

X ~~My sunburn was terrible in spite of / despite wearing a hat. (= My sunburn wore a hat!)~~

however / nevertheless

However and nevertheless are used to express contrast. However is formal. Nevertheless is even more formal.

The fashion show was expensive to put on. However / Nevertheless, it did make a profit.

The fashion show was expensive to put on. It did make a profit, however / nevertheless.

The fashion show was expensive to put on. It did, however / nevertheless, make a profit.

while / whereas

While and whereas are used to contrast two different facts or ideas.

Structure	Example
while / whereas + subject + verb, subject + verb	While / Whereas jeans are worn by both men and women, blouses are worn only by women.
subject + verb, while / whereas + subject + verb	Blouses are worn only by women, while / whereas jeans are worn by both men and women.

The school dance

1 I went to my first school dance last Saturday night and it was a disaster! If 2 only that I'd thought about what I was going to wear a bit more carefully. Although 3 being my best friend Jenny had told me it wasn't that kind of event, I'd decided 4 to look really grown-up and wear a dress and high-heeled shoes. When I got 5 there, I looked totally ridiculous and some people started laughing. Despite of 6 this slight setback, I thought I'd hit the dance floor. If I could have survived that,
 7 I could survive anything. But even though that went wrong! One of my heels
 8 snapped – even if though my shoes were brand new – and I had to carry them
 9 to the side of the room. It was very embarrassing! Still, despite the disastrous 10 start was, Craig Fielding came up to me and asked me if I wanted to go out with him next Saturday. Of course I said no, but he is cute! We'll see what happens!

I Write one word in each gap.

On the Catwalk

with Sunny Magenta

(1) the fact that I try to be as upbeat as possible in this column, I have to say Milan has disappointed me. If only we (2) possibly go back to the glory days of fashion (ie last year) when skirts were short and pink was the new black. Pink is still in this year, interestingly enough. (3) , it's only being used in accessories such as buckles, belts, braces and beads. Brown – the must-have colour of the season – has never been my favourite colour, (4) I have to say that Belinda Steven's all-brown paper beachwear was quite stunning. That's in (5) of its complete impracticality, of course. It really is (6) time that haute couture entered the real world just a tiny bit. I know it's supposed to be more art than clothing, but suppose you actually (7) the mistake of buying a Diego Fernandez baseball cap made of candle wax. That's one walk in the sunshine and five thousand euros is dripping down your face! Now, I'm not saying I wish I (8) stayed back in dull and grey London – the after-show parties were tremendous, as always. But I do hope that next season I (9) be able to report that the fashion world's got a grip on itself once more, and then – (10) though none of us will ever be able to afford any of the items I describe in this column – at least we'll have something to dream about once more.
