THE AMAZING OCTOPUSES

Octopuses can be big or small. They have two big eyes, a beak, and a soft, round body. They also have eight long arms – each with its own brain. Therefore, octopuses have nine brains in total. They can shoot water, waste, and ink out of their body.

Octopuses don't have any bones. They can fit into small spaces. Octopuses can swim fast in an unusual way. First, they take water into their body. Then, they shoot water out to move. Swimming is hard work for octopuses. It's easier for them to crawl along the ocean floor.

Octopuses usually live in warm water. Some octopuses live in very cold water. Many octopuses like deep ocean waters. Others swim near the ocean's surface.
