

Name _____ Date _____

Grammar

"Food for the Birds"

Grammar Rules Kinds of Sentences

A statement tells something.	Example: I have a pet bird.
An exclamation shows strong feeling.	Example: He is so funny!
A command tells someone to do something.	Example: Look at this picture of him.
A question asks something.	Example: Do you have a pet?
Sometimes the answer to a question has a contraction .	Example: No, I don't. No, it isn't.

Read each sentence. Write C for command, S for statement, E for exclamation, and Q for question. Then underline the contractions.

- Do you like corn? _____
- No, I don't. _____
- I really love corn! _____
- Some birds like it, too. _____
- Where do they find corn? _____
- Look at the bird feeder. _____
- Wow! It's full of corn! _____

© Cengage Learning, Inc.

 Write a statement, a question, and an exclamation about something that happened today. Read your sentences to a partner.