Many people prefer to buy _____ clothes straight off the shelf, rather than purchase _____ clothes that other people have worn. They may think that clothes that are a few years old will be _____ or unpopular. If there is less choice in a charity shop, clothes might not fit well. For example, they could be too small and _____ or too big and _____. People may give away some clothes because they look untidy or _____ now. Or maybe the clothes just have nothing that makes them stand out and they are too ordinary and _____.

But in my experience, you can find a great deal in charity shops. If I'm looking for something bright, I can often find _____ trousers and shirts. Sometimes you can find _____ clothes that show off the latest brands and designs. I often find a good balance of _____ clothes, such as T-shirts and jeans, and more _____ clothes like blazers and suits. So if you need to look _____ for a job interview, don't just walk past the charity shop. You may find what you want and save some money too.
