

HARRY POTTER AND THE GOBLET OF FIRE - CHAPTER SIXTEEN

-Read the following text.

The flames inside the goblet turned suddenly red again. Sparks began to fly from it. Next moment, a tongue of flame shot into the air, and a charred piece of parchment fluttered out of it – the whole room gasped. Dumbledore caught the piece of parchment. “The champion for Durmstrang,” he read, in a strong, clear voice, “will be Viktor Krum.” Viktor Krum stood up, turned right, walked along the staff table, and disappeared through the door into the next chamber while everyone was clapping. Now everyone was paying attention to the goblet, which, seconds later, turned red once more. A second piece of parchment shot out of it. “The champion for Beauxbatons,” said Dumbledore, “is Fleur Delacour!”. Hermione was not happy. She didn’t clap. When Fleur Delacour vanished into the side chamber, everyone made silence again. The Hogwarts champion next . . . And the Goblet of Fire turned red once more: sparks showered out of it: the tongue of flame shot high into the air, and from its tip, Dumbledore caught the third piece of parchment. “The Hogwarts champion,” he called, “is Cedric Diggory!” “No!” said Ron loudly, but nobody heard him except Harry. Ron wasn’t clapping or jumping for joy. Every single Hufflepuff was screaming and clapping while Cedric was walking towards the chamber behind the teachers’ table. “Excellent!” Dumbledore called happily. “Well, we now have our three champions.

I am sure I can count upon all of you, including the remaining students from Beauxbatons and Durmstrang, to give your champions every ounce of support you can muster—” But Dumbledore suddenly stopped speaking. The fire in the goblet just turned red again. Sparks were flying out of it. A long flame shot suddenly into the air and another piece of parchment came out. Dumbledore caught the parchment. He held it out and stared at the name written upon it. There was a long pause, during which Dumbledore stared at the slip in his hands, and everyone in the room stared at Dumbledore. And then Dumbledore cleared his throat and read out – “Harry Potter.”

-Answer the following questions by choose the correct options:

1. Are the flames inside the goblet blue when Dumbledore catches the parchment?

- A) Yes, they are.
- B) No, they aren't.

2. Who is the champion for Durmstrang?

- A) Viktor Krum B) Cedric Diggory C) Harry Potter D) Fleur Delacour

3. Are all the students happy when Fleur Delacour is one of the chosen?

- A) Yes, they are.
- B) No, they aren't.

4. Who is the champion for Hogwarts?

- A) Viktor Krum B) Fleur Delacour C) Hermione Granger D) Cedric Diggory

5. Whose name does the last parchment have?

- A) Viktor Krum B) Harry Potter C) Hermione Granger D) Cedric Diggory