

My Classroom

My classroom is a lively place where I learn and grow every day. It is located on the second floor of my school building, with large windows that let in plenty of natural light. The walls are adorned with colorful posters, displaying maps, the alphabet, and inspirational quotes.

At the front of the room is the teacher's desk, where our teacher stands to lead the class. There is a whiteboard behind the desk, where she writes important notes and assignments. In the corner, there is a bookshelf filled with books of various genres, from fiction to non-fiction.

The center of the room is filled with rows of desks and chairs where my classmates and I sit. Each desk has a compartment underneath to store our books and stationery. On the walls, there are displays of our artwork and projects, showcasing our creativity.

During lessons, the room is buzzing with activity as we engage in discussions, group work, and hands-on activities. Sometimes, we gather on the floor for storytelling sessions or to watch educational videos.

Overall, my classroom is a welcoming space where learning is fun and exciting!

Mount Sindoro

Mount Sindoro is a majestic volcano located in Central Java, Indonesia. Standing at an elevation of 3,136 meters (10,289 feet), it is one of the most popular hiking destinations in the region. Its name, "Sindoro," is derived from the Javanese word meaning "tranquil."

The mountain offers breath-taking views of lush green valleys, surrounding peaks, and occasionally, even the neighbouring Mount Sumbing. Hiking enthusiasts from around the world are drawn to its challenging yet rewarding trails, which vary in difficulty.

At the summit, hikers are greeted by a vast crater with steaming vents and sulfuric gases. Despite its active status, Mount Sindoro is considered relatively safe for climbing, attracting adventurers seeking an unforgettable outdoor experience.

At School: Meeting New Friends

(In the school hallway, Sarah bumps into a new student, Lisa, who is looking lost.)

Sarah: Hi there! Are you new here?

Lisa: Yeah, I just transferred. I'm Lisa.

Sarah: Nice to meet you, Lisa! I'm Sarah. Are you looking for your classroom?

Lisa: Yeah, I can't seem to find it.

(Just then, Alex, another student, approaches.)

Alex: Hey, what's going on?

Sarah: Alex, this is Lisa. She's new here and looking for her classroom.

Alex: Hi, Lisa! Welcome to our school. I'm Alex. Do you need help finding your classroom?

Lisa: Yes, please! That would be great.

Sarah: Sure thing! What's your class and teacher's name?

Lisa: I'm in Class 8B, but I'm not sure about the teacher's name.

Alex: No worries. Let's check the schedule board over there.

Tom is an exchange student from Germany. He is living in Johan's house.

Tom: what is this thorny thing?

Johan: it's the best fruit in the world!

Tom: the smell is awful.

Johan: are you kidding me? It smells good. Come on, try some. It's yummy.

Tom: okay, I bet you're right.... uh! yuck!

Johan: so, how is it? Do you like it?

Tom: I don't know. The taste a bit bitter and the texture is creamy. It's strange.

Johan: try some more.
