

AT THE RESTAURANT!

We are going to read the following dialogue. The costumer's answers contain mistakes. Can you identify them and give an answer that you consider correct?

WAITER/WAITRESS	CUSTOMER
Welcome to All Stars Restaurant. How many tables do you need?	One table for eight persons.
Great! Follow me... Let me look for a few menus and a little of bread.	OK. How many time do we have to wait?
Here you have...it may t ake some time to get your food because we are full. May I take your order?	Well, tell me how much the red wine. Pasta for main course.
The red wine is 9 dollars. I will ask if we have any bottles left. Anything else you need?	Yes, add a lots of grated cheese to the pasta.
Fantastic! Wait here a few minutes and I will bring your drinks!	OK.
Here you have your drinks... The chef says your order won't take much time. I will be right back.	I hope so.

Now, let's practice your version of the dialogue with some answers given by you. Practice intonation for questions and staments.

-Welcome to All Stars Restaurant. How many tables do you need?

-Great! Follow me... Let me look for a few menus and a little of bread.

-Of course! The regular coke is 3 dollars and the diet coke is 4. I will ask if we have any cans of diet coke left. Which one would you prefer?

-Fantastic! Wait here a few minutes and I will bring your drinks!

-Here you have your drinks... The chef says your order won't take much time. I will be right back.
