Multicultural cities

The world is a wonderful combination of many cultures. To me, the best things about traveling are seeing different places, tasting different foods, and meeting different people. If you're looking for the best multicultural experience, visit one of the places on our list.

Toronto

This city in Canada is one of the most multicultural cities in the world. There are almost 200 different cultural groups in this city of almost three million people. One interesting thing about Toronto is the little international neighborhoods, like Chinatown, Greektown, Little Italy, and Little India. Each of these areas has its own stores and restaurants, and even the street signs are in different languages!

Amsterdam

Amsterdam

This beautiful city in the Netherlands is famous for being an international place. Amsterdam is a very open city, and it welcomes people from all over the world. It's home to people of 178 different nationalities, so you can hear many different languages on the streets. If you can't speak Dutch, there are free classes you can take. Amsterdam also has many cultural events throughout the year.

São Paulo

São Paulo, in the south of Brazil, is one of the most multicultural cities in South America. Brazil has a rich history, and its people have origins from all over the world. In São Paulo, there are influences from many different continents: South America, Europe, Africa, and Asia. I recommend visiting the city's Italian neighborhood of Bela Vista, or the Japanese neighborhood of Liberdade.
