A MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE

A.	In 1985, a lonely Swedish sailor put a message in a bottle and threw it into the sea. He addressed it "To Someone Beautiful and Far Away". He got a reply by post from an Italian woman saying "I'm not beautiful, but this bottle has travelled so far to reach me that I must send you an answer." They got married two years later and have been together since then. They keep their letters in a safe.

B.	In 2018 during a beach party, an Australian woman discovered an old bottle in the sand. Inside she found a piece of paper with the name of a German ship. It was dated June 12, 1886. It turned out that hundreds of such bottles were thrown into the sea to study how ocean water moves. The note is now on display at a local museum.

C.	In 2000, a group of tourists were on a boat off the coast of Spain. The engine broke down and they had no radio or mobile phone contact. To make matters worse, there was no food or drinking water left on board. The situation was very serious. They decided to put an SOS message in a bottle. Two days later, a local fisherman found it and contacted rescuers who arrived just in time.
