

9.

Tanner's Apprentice

It's 1347. Tanners [red box] leather from animal skins. As the apprentice, you [red box] a tanner's live-in helper. You have to do all the nasty stuff.

First, you scrape the animal skin to clean it. Then you [red box] to wash the skin. Tubs of old urine [red box] good for getting off all that dead animal hair. That's right, dunk it in the urine!

Next, the skin [red box] to be softened in a thick soup of water and dog waste. The skins [red box] a proper squeeze so they [red box] in a tub – and you [red box], too! Stamp your feet. Get those toes working!

What do you think about this job?
Write it on your notebook