Read the text:

Having a pet can be like living with a comedy show on legs, especially if that pet happens to be a dog with the grace of a bull in a china shop or a cat with the curiosity of a toddler in a toy store. One of the biggest perks is the endless entertainment they provide; who needs television when you can watch a cat launch itself at a closed window or a dog discover its own tail? On the downside, prepare for the 'home redecoration' phase, where your couch may suddenly sport avant-garde rips and your carpets become abstract art pieces. Not to mention, you might find yourself part of a new early morning club you never wanted to join, thanks to their boundless energy at sunrise. But in the end, even when they turn your alarm clock into a chew toy, they're worth every chaotic moment.

True or False

1. According to the text, one advantage of having a pet is the endless entertainment they provide. True / False
2. The text mentions that pets can sometimes cause damage to furniture and belongings. True / False
3. The text suggests that having a pet typically leads to a quiet and peaceful morning routine. True / False

LIVEWORKSHEETS