

Dear Jon and Abby,

May 12, 2024

Hi you two! I hope this finds you well. I am doing ok here at soccer camp in Northern Ontario, but I want to tell you a little bit about what has happened these last few weeks.

Camp has been pretty great! When I first got here, I wasn't having much fun because I couldn't get any sleep. The tent is so thin, so I can hear all the noises outside all night, the showers are cold and my clothes are always dirty and my socks are always wet! I have gotten used to the noises at night and the showers are refreshing after a long, hot day of activities.

However, the worst part of this trip isn't nature. Some of the campers aren't very nice. I'm starting to think they might have a problem with me because I am the only girl here. YES! Can you believe it? There are about 35 boys and me. I am good, maybe better at the sports activities that we do each day, but what should I do? - Pretend to play badly? I thought that at our age, for sure these boys wouldn't be so angry that a girl is better than them in soccer. They really need to learn how to treat me equally and I have told the camp counselors, but nothing has changed.

We have a really big tournament coming up next week against the camp in the next town. The coaches have a lot of complaints from parents too that they don't want me to play in the tournament. This is very unfair. I am more than capable of doing it. Last week, we had a practice again, and the coach put me as defense. The team was not happy! Guess how many goals the other team was able to get? ZERO. That's right. I was awesome! I played great! If the coach chooses not to put me in the tournament, I know our team will lose.

Wish me luck,

Jackie Alens
