

A Day at the Park

Sally and Tom are excited because today they are going to the park. Sally asks her mother, "Mom, can we go to the park now?" Her mother replies, "Yes, you can go, but you must be careful and stay together."

When they arrive at the park, they see many people. Sally sees a swing and asks Tom, "Can I go on the swing?" Tom smiles and says, "Of course you can, Sally."

Later, they want to eat ice cream. Sally asks her mother, "May we have some ice cream?" Her mother thinks for a moment and says, "Yes, you may have ice cream, but only if you finish your lunch first."

Tom and Sally sit on a bench and eat their sandwiches. After they finish, they run to the ice cream stand. Tom asks, "Can I have chocolate ice cream?" The vendor says, "Yes, you can."

After eating their ice cream, they play for a while longer. Sally sees a dog and asks the owner,

"May I pet your dog?" The owner replies, "Yes, you may. He is very friendly."

Sally and Tom have a great time at the park. They thank their mother for taking them there. Sally asks, "Can we come back tomorrow?" Her mother smiles and says, "We'll see, maybe!"
