The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) is a regional bloc founded on August 8, 1967 in Bangkok, Thailand. Its member states are Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Viet Nam. East Timor was added as a new member of this regional grouping.

The ASEAN was established with the aim to promote regional political, economic and social cooperation through dialogue. To further deepen the integration of ASEAN member countries, the 11th ASEAN Summit in 2005 adopted a resolution to formulate a charter. In the 13th ASEAN Summit in 2007, the draft charter was formally adopted and passed on to the member states for ratification. On December 15, 2008, ASEAN's charter entered into force, making ASEAN an international legal person.

The ASEAN Community was formed on December 31th 2015 with three pillars: ASEAN political-security community, ASEAN economic community and ASEAN socio-cultural community. The ASEAN Charter serves as a firm foundation in achieving the ASEAN Community by providing legal status and institutional framework for ASEAN.
