Cats of all kinds are present in the legends, religion, mythology, and history of many different cultures. Cave paintings created by early humans display different types of wild cats (34) _____ are now extinct, or no longer around. Many of these great beasts saw humans as food, but were hunted by humans in return. Cats (35) _____ to the ones kept as pets today started showing up in artwork thousands of years ago. For example, the ancient Egyptians believed cats were the sacred, or special, animal of a goddess named Bast. They believed that Bast often appeared as a cat, so many ancient Egyptians respected and honoured cats and kittens. (36) _____, other cultures feared cats or thought that they brought illnesses and bad luck. Today, with millions kept as pets in homes around the world, cats have become important members of (37) _____ families. No one knows for sure when or how cats became very popular household pets. It's possible that people noticed how cats hunted mice and rats, so they set food and milk out to keep the cats near their homes. This helped to prevent too many of these rodents from coming into homes and eating people's food or (38) _____ sickness.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 31 to 35.

Humans generally spent more time working than do other creatures, but there is greater variability in industriousness from one human culture to the next than is seen in subgroups of any other species. For instance, the average French worker toils for 1,646 hours a year; the average American for 1,957 hours; and the average Japanese for 2,088.

One reason for human diligence is that people, unlike animals, can often override the impulses they may feel to slow down. They can drink coffee when they might prefer a nap or flick on the air-conditioning when the heat might otherwise demand torpor. Many humans are driven to work hard by a singular desire to gather resources far beyond what is required for survival. Squirrels may collect what they need to make it through one winter but only humans worry about collect bills, retirement, or replacing their old record albums with compact discs.

Among other primates, if you don't need to travel around to get food for that day, you sit down and relax, said Dr. Frans de Waal of Emory University in Atlanta. "it's typically human to try to accumulate wealth and get more and more."

Much of the acquisitiveness is likely to be the result of cultural training. Anthropologists have found that most hunter-gatherer groups, who live day to day on the resources they can kill or forage and who stash very little away for the future generally work only three to five hours daily.

Indeed, an inborn temptation to reduce may lurk beneath even the most work-obsessed people, which could explain why sloth ranks with lust and gluttony as one of the seven deadly sins.

Question 39. What is the main idea of this reading?

- A. Work among Humans and Animals.
- B. The Accumulation of Wealth.
- C. Sloth: One of the Seven Deadly Sins.
- D. Human Cultural Training.

Question 40. According to the author, humans are so industrious because _____.

- A. they have an inborn temptation to take it easy so that they can survive.
- B. they are stronger and better protected than animals, so they can easily gain more to survive.
- C. they need much more than animals need in order to survive.
- D. they can overcome the impulse to slow down and they work for gains beyond survival.

Question 41. The word "They" in paragraph 2 refers to _____.

- A. impulses
- B. animals
- C. resources
- D. people

Question 42. The word "override" in paragraph 2 is closest in meaning to _____.

- A. steps in a process of working for human survival.
- B. definitions and examples of human and animals' work.
- C. a series of events in human and animals' life.
- D. reasons for human's diligence and acquisitiveness.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 36 to 42.

What picture do you have of the future? Will life in the future be better, worse or the same as now? What do you hope about the future?

Futurologists predict that life will probably be very different in 2050 in all the fields, from entertainment to technology. First of all, it seems that TV channels will have disappeared. Instead, people will choose a program from a 'menu' and a computer will send the program directly to the television.

Today, we can use the World Wide Web to read newspaper stories and see pictures on a computer thousands of kilometers away. By 2050, music, films, programs, newspapers and books will come to us by computer.

In what concerns the environment, water will have become one of our most serious problems. In many places, agriculture is changing and farmers are growing fruit and vegetables to export. This uses a lot of water. Demand for water will increase ten times between now and 2050 and there could be serious shortages. Some futurologists predict that water could be the cause of war if we don't act now.

In transport, cars running on new, clean fuels will have computers to control the speed and there won't be any accidents. Today, many cars have computers that tell drivers exactly where they are. By 2050, the computer will control the car and drive it to your destination. On the other hand, space planes will take people halfway around the world in two hours. Nowadays, the United States Shuttle can go into space and land on Earth again. By 2050, space planes will fly all over the world and people will fly from Los Angeles to Tokyo in just two hours.

In the domain of technology, robots will have replaced people in factories. Many factories already use robots. Big companies prefer robots - they do not ask for pay rises or go on strike, and they work 24 hours a day. By 2050, we will see robots everywhere - in factories, schools, offices, hospitals, shops and homes.

Last but not least, medicine technology will have conquered many diseases. Today, there are electronic devices that connect directly to the brain to help people hear. By 2050, we will be able to help blind and deaf people see and hear again. Scientists have discovered how to control genes. They have already produced clones of animals. By 2050, scientists will be able to produce clones of people and decide how they look, how they behave and how much intelligence they have.

Question 44. The passage mainly discusses _____.

- A. the effect of the futurologists' prediction on our lives.
- B. the effect of telecommunication on our future life.
- C. the changes in our future life compared with our life today.
- D. the importance of cloning in the future.

Question 45. What can be inferred about the life in 2050 according to the passage?

- A. Life in 2050 will be much better than that of today.
- B. TV will be an indispensable means of communication and business.
- C. People will not suffer from the shortage of water due to the polar melting
- D. The deaf will not have to depend any longer on the electronic hearing devices.

Question 46. Why does the author use "prefer robots" in paragraph 5?

- A. To show the importance of robots in production.
- B. To encourage the workers to resign from work.
- C. To compare the robots with the workers.
- D. To emphasize the scientist's role in inventing robots.

Question 47 The word "This" in paragraph 3 refers to _____.

- A. the possible war.
- B. the cash crop planting.
- C. the serious shortage.
- D. the demand for water.

Question 48. What may NOT be true about life in 2050?

- A. Many forms of entertainment will come to us thanks to computer.
- B. Blind and deaf people will be helped by scientists to see and hear again.
- C. Scientists will be able to produce clones of people and decide how intelligent they are.
- D. Our sources of water for agriculture will increase ten times.

Question 49. The word "domain" in paragraph 5 mostly means _____.

- A. way of life
- B. interest
- C. challenge
- D. field of expertise

Question 50. The word "conquered" in the last paragraph mostly means _____.

- A. controlled
- B. diagnosed
- C. transmitted
- D. caused

----THE END---
